PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

With nearly two decades of experience as a Board-Certified Psychiatrist specializing in neuroscience, my career has been dedicated to elucidating the pathophysiological etiologies of mental health disorders. I have developed a profound understanding of how trauma, genetic predispositions, gut microbiome dysbiosis, and inflammation impact mental health. This comprehensive approach shapes both my clinical practice and teaching methodologies. I am particularly focused on integrating cutting-edge research into practical applications, continually refining treatment strategies to optimize patient outcomes.
